A FARM BUREAU

WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY ONE IN THIS COUNTY.

ABOUT JOHNSON COUNTY

Clubs Are Formed There in Hundred School Districts to Teach Progressive Methods.

As Nodaway county is in need of a farm bureau, headed by a man well experienced along agricultural lines, the article written by H. J. Blanton for the St. Louis Republic of the work as done by the farm bureau in Johnson county, of which Warrensburg is the county seat, will be of interest here. Several attempts have been made for a bureau here, and it is probable that such a one will be established within the near future. As the article is a lengthy one, only parts of it are given as follows:

The year's farm bureau results in Johnson county were: Soybean clubs, junior poultry clubs, hog management clubs, egg marketing clubs, boys' seed corn clubs, girls' tomato growing clubs, cooking and sewing clubs, thirty-five rural fairs, one hundred school district clubs, ten township farm organizations, alfalfa on fifty farms, seed testing in the schools, cooking contests in rural schools, seven hundred in farm organization and twenty-one anti-hog cholera clubs.

Johnson county is just beginning its second year under the farm bureau organization. Conditions have taken the place of theories and intelligent efforts are fast supplanting the unprofitable and unbusiness-like methods incident to planning and plowing, planting and cultivation, harvesting, marketing and feeding in former years.

The bureau is headed by a young man from the agricultural college of the University of Missouri. His name is C. M. Long. Except for the fact that all his studies and all his ambitions have been along the agricultural lines, he would have gained name and fame as a campaign manager in some political party.

Within twelve months from the time he opened his little office in Warrensburg there were farmers' clubs in 100 school districts, anti-hog cholera clubs with more than 1,200 members; fair associations in thirty-five farming communities, hog management clubs, tomato growing clubs, cooking and canning clubs, poultry associations, egg marketing circles, and all sorts of other organizations for the study, production and development of better people and things upon the farms of Johnson county.

Good natured rivalry has become a dominant factor in neighborhood and district, and out of this rivalry before the frosts are felt again will come object lessons in the utility of intelligent application that will be as profitable as they are convincing.

The bureau has seven hundred farmers upon its active list. It has a board of directors composed of two men from each of the fifteen townships. In 100 school districts there are suborganizations which articulate with the county bureau. Meetings are held at the county seat once a month. Reports on things actually accomplished are made and plans for the next four weeks are formulated.

The bureau has the active co-operation of the County Grange, the County Poultry association, the County Dairy association and the commercial clubs of Warrensburg, Holden and Chilhowee, while in every one of the 150 district schools the dignity and possibilities of scientific agriculture are emphasized day after day.

The first year was a year of organization. The second year, just beginning, is to be a year of application. The new crops and better methods advocated in 1913 are being put to a practical test in 1914, and Manager Long awaits results with full assurance that anything like a favorable season will more than vindicate his claims in their behalf.

The farm bureau has stimulated interest in better crops, better stock and better products of pantry, needle and brush by the organization of fair associations in which the premiums cover a wide range, and competition is plentiful and keen. Thirty-five of these associations were organized last fall.

The attendance was large at every fair, and the exhibits include everything, from bottled ketchup to bouncing babes. The winners resolved to do even better next year, while the losers resolved to beat the winners at their own game by resorting to winning methods. Incidentally, the social side of life was further developed by these fairs, and in exchange of ideas there was an educational feature of much value.

The savings to Johnson county incident to the farm bureau's campaign against hog cholera were sufficient to maintain it for a generation. The bureau will continue for the effort and the veterinary department of the state university did the rest. Twelve hundred farm owners became members of the twenty-one anti-hog cholera clubs that were organized.

Manager Long is conducting a campaign of education on the virtues of sweet clover. The plant is a mysterious stranger in Missouri, and until recent months has been considered a dangerous pest. As a forage plant and soiling plant, however, it ranks next to alfalfa in value. It has the advantage of alfalfa, in that it will thrive in the poorest soil and flourish through the driest season. The seed is worth $15 a bushel. One man secured 1,200 pounds along a roadside near Warrensburg in a very short time and sold it, hulled and all, at 15 cents a pound. Two hundred acres were sowed to this crop this spring.

ENTERTAINED THE BALL TEAM.

Being the Closing of the Season and Their Victory Over Warrensburg.

The Normal school baseball team was entertained last night in honor of the closing of the season and of the victory over Warrensburg.

Coach L. M. Eek was host to the team for the first part of the evening when the athletes went to the picture show at the Empire. They were then invited to partake of a dainty luncheon at the Reuillard cafe by Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Miss Beulah Bruner, Miss M. M. Hughes, Miss Katherine Helwig and Miss Beatrix Winn.

Base ball for next season was, of course, one of the topics discussed, and it was found that practically every member of this year's team would report for duty again next spring.

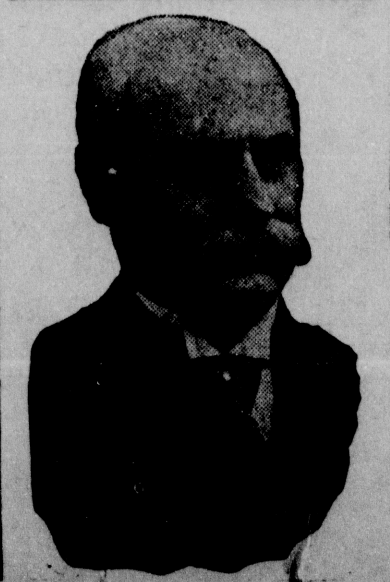

Those present were Reed Noblett, Ed Adams, Earl Brittain, Frank Hamm, Eugene Bird, Walter Miller, Sam Long, Earl Richards, Marvin Dyer, Madison Wilson and Frank McKee of the team, and the host and hostesses of the evening, L. M. Eek, Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Misses Beulah Bruner, M. M. Hughes, Katherine Helwig and Beatrix Winn.

Miss Ruth Gilmore of Carl Junction expects to attend the summer term of the Normal school and will make her home with Mrs. J. C. Archer.

Richard Goff and son, Ova, and daughter, Maude, of Barnard were visitors in this city Thursday.

FOR CHAUTAUQUA

MRS. LEONORA M. LAKE SECURED FOR THIS YEAR'S SESSION.

MESSAGE TO PUBLIC

An Earnest Desire to Attract Attention to the Most Sacred Obligations of Life.

The Chautauqua association has secured a most able lecturer for this session in the person of Mrs. Leonora M. Lake. Mrs. Lake is one of the most ardent lecturers on the Chautauqua platform today.

Leonora M. Lake's "Message to the Public" is as follows:

My Judge and Jury: What is my message? An earnest desire to attract attention to the most sacred obligations of life, loving service of God, home and country; to awaken conscience, arouse ambition, strengthen purpose for the fulfilling of life's noblest duties; to help the weak and faltering; to encourage the strong and persevering; to open up grander possibilities before the minds of those standing undecided on life's threshold; to try and make everyone glad that they live in this, the most wonderful of all the ages, in the most beautiful of all lands; to help all, to hurt none, except that one of whom it might be said, "Tis only the wounded bird which flutters."

If in my message there be aught of helpfulness to young or old; if I shall dry one tear of sorrow, soothe one aching, doubting, despairing heart—help one struggling soul to a clearer vision of the creature's duty to the Creator, and therefore a kinder relation with all mankind; if my message shall help some young man or woman to hold fast to the higher, nobler, purer ideals of life, then indeed will I have done some good in my "ministry of a smile" and a cheery word.

I am an enthusiastic Chautauquan and I believe their platform affords greater opportunities for education, inspiration, spiritual life, recreation and an appeal to the moral sensitiveness and unselfish impulse of human souls than any other known method of reaching and benefitting all classes of people.

And so believing, I bring to it all the zest, vigor and conscientious effort of which I am capable. I love the work with all the ardor of a girl in her teens. Although a wife, mother, and grandmother, I am not yet ready to be labeled antique. I am a member of the I. L. A. (International Lyceum association), not that I am of any benefit to that organization, but because it is of great benefit to me. Contact with its brilliant minded, noble hearted, conscientious men and women makes me better fitted to serve you acceptably. May I hope, your honors, Judge and jury, to receive a favorable verdict when I appear before you.

I am Irish by birth and parentage. Became an American when less than 3 years old. I was reared in the country, on a farm, and was called a pretty good farmer, too.

In those days there were little or no church or school advantages. But I had, thank God, that which supplied so far as possible the need of both—a wise, prudent, intelligent, devout Catholic mother, to whose teachings and character building I owe all that is good in me, and to whom I am indebted for the ideal mother, home, home life for which I so earnestly plead today.

Mrs. Lake has lectured on the Maryville Chautauqua platform and a great many expressed their desire to be able to hear her again, and for this reason the management of the association has secured Mrs. Lake to be present and deliver one of her lectures at this session.

DUNCAN FOR COUNTY CLERK.

Files His Candidacy Today—Sam H. Williams for Presiding Judge.

Prof. B. F. Duncan of this city filed his candidacy today for the office of county clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election to be held August 4. An investigation of political conditions of the county has convinced the friends of Prof. Duncan that the indications are favorable to his candidacy, and Mr. Duncan decided to enter the race. That there is a large number of voters in the county ready to follow the leadership of Prof. Duncan goes without saying, and though he has sustained defeat in some instances in his efforts heretofore, the conditions were so entirely exceptional, the vote cast for him so small as to fully justify his entering this campaign, his friends say. No one acquainted with his qualifications doubts his ability to discharge the duties of this office with credit to himself and the good of the public service. His long residence among our people and his active participation in important public enterprises, entitle him, his friends assert, to high consideration and respect. His friends will be content with urging his own personal claims and qualifications, leaving intact the merits of the gentlemen who oppose him in this race.

Sam H. Williams of near Burlington Junction, formerly county treasurer, filed today as a candidate for presiding judge of the county court, subject to the action of the Democratic primary on August 4.

SOFT WOOD BAT

WARRENSBURG TRIED TO USE IT IN GAME YESTERDAY.

ONE HOME RUN WITH IT

And Bat Was Thrown Out—Normal Team Wins by a Score of 5 to 1, Closing Their Season.

The Maryville Normal school baseball team finished their season in grand style Wednesday when they defeated the Warrensburg Normal team by a 5 to 1 score.

The victory was doubly sweet because of the fact that the Normal team was defeated by the Warrensburg team at Warrensburg a few weeks ago largely because of a raw deal in umpiring in conjunction with a "fungo" or soft wood bat with which that team got most of their long drives.

The same bat was in evidence yesterday, and their lone score was made when one of their players put the ball to the railroad tracks with this club, which was good for a home run. Umpire Keck, however, insisted that such a bat was not in accordance with the rules of organized base ball, and despite Coach Allen's protests, suggested that they use regulation bats for the remainder of the game.

A large crowd witnessed the game, and displayed such enthusiasm as has not been witnessed on the home diamond for many a moon. The Normal field was practically airtight, with the exception of one error on the part of Shortstop Bird. Bird's work in the field, however, was of such a character that he could have made several more errors and yet been ahead of the game, for he accepted every chance that came his way, and with the one exception handled them perfectly. Pitcher Ham also deserves special mention for pitching the heady game which he did, and for his stops of several line drives which looked like scores. Every man on the team played gilt edged ball, and all certainly deserve all the glory which is coming to them from this victory.

Three of the Normal's five scores were earned runs. The locals registered in the first inning when Noblett got to first on an infield hit and stole second base. The Warrensburg catcher, in attempting to intercept him, overthrew second, and the center fielder, in trying to cut him off at third, overthrew that base and allowed the score to come home. Warrensburg then tied the score in the second inning with their home run.

The score stood a tie then until the eighth inning, when the Normal team put on their slugging clothes and drove in four runs. In this inning Long, McKee and Adams all got safe hits, Adams' being a two-base hit. Warrensburg was shut out in the ninth.

This game finishes the Normal season, with a total of eight games won and four lost. Summary:

archs and their satraps governed the world. The people were not responsible for bad laws and government. It was not their duty nor interest to learn politics and discuss its problems.

But in our Christian republic the people are sovereign. Each citizen has an equal responsibility and duty to the government. Every elector is as responsible in his sphere as the president or any of the government officers for the character of our government. Every suffragist's ballot, however ignorant or vicious he may be, has all the potency in shaping government that the wisest and the best voter's ballot can have.

We then can be under no greater obligation to our country and to our country's God than to learn political ethics and to vote for righteous laws and government to the best of our ability. There can be no greater sin than to neglect or to refuse to do it.

God cannot cast the devil out of our world without our collective consent as peoples and nations any more than He can cast him out of us individually against our wills. We are surely under the same obligation to and necessity to work out our social or political salvation that we are to work out our individual salvation with fear and trembling, for it is as impossible for God to save us nationally as individually without our co-operation with Him.

If the church does not control the moral principles involved in the political problems of our country, politicians and their partisan followers will determine the standard of the churches' social and political ethics to suit their selfish or sinister purposes without regard to all the people's welfare or the will of God.

This league is for the exclusive purpose of educating the electorate of our county on measures or principles most needed for the highest good of all the people and crystallizing them into law without regard to any party or sect.

The movement originated in a federation of church members in all the churches and religious bodies and outside moralists who believe in righteous government.

The personnel of its officers and present adherents and the good it has already done, although not a year old, assures us that it is one of the best political organizations that ever blessed our country.

Dr. Rauschenbusch, the president, is professor of church history in Rochester Baptist Theological seminary and one of the greatest sociological writers in the world. Bishops McDowell and Hendrix are at the head of the M. E. and M. E., South, churches. Dr. Washington Gladden and D. W. D. P. Bliss are preachers of national fame in the Congregationalist and Episcopalian churches. The other officers are of equal celebrity in the different churches.

Let us all fall in line and "God speed" the movement for the enthronement of the Messiah King on earth as He is King in heaven.

Overland

$1200 Worth For $950

—and a Better Car in the Bargain

ALL VALUES are judged by comparison. You size up the worth and quality of any one article, by comparing it with several other similar articles. Then, and only then, you are in a position to make the most practical, intelligent and economical choice.

Therefore, before you choose your automobile, carefully compare the specifications, quality and equipment of the $950 Overland with the description of any of the $1200 cars. You'll find no material difference.

For instance:

The $950 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches. A good many $1200 cars have even a shorter wheel base than this.

The $950 Overland has a thirty-five horsepower motor. Do you know of any $1200 car that can give you more power?

The $950 Overland has 33 inch x 4 inch tires. Again the same—in both size and quality—that you find on most $1200 cars.

The $950 Overland has electric lights throughout—exactly the same as any of the highest priced cars.

The $950 Overland is as roomy, comfortable and as luxuriously finished as any $1200 car.

The Overland equipment is just as complete, and of just as high a quality as the equipment of any $1200 car.

The steels used in the Overland are of the very highest grade; in fact the metals and materials used in the Overland are of the same quality as those found in the most costly cars in the world.

The Overland is just as accurately and precisely produced as any car on the market—regardless of price.

The MORE you compare this $950 car with cars costing 30 per cent and even 40 per cent MORE—the MORE you are brought to realize that to pay MORE than $950 for this type of car is absolutely unnecessary.

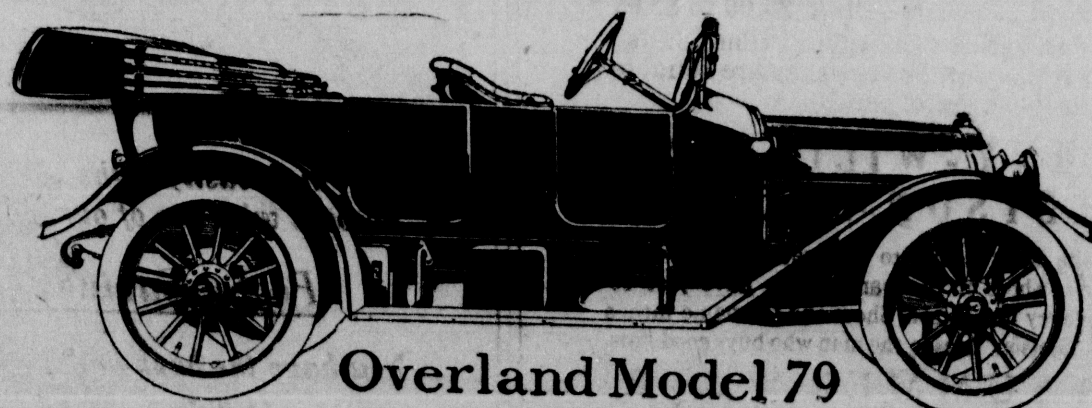

The Overland costs you less, because of the greater production.

Other manufacturers must charge you more, because of their smaller production.

And that is why the Overland is outselling every other similar car made.

BEN BOLT, the AVIATOR

Oh, don't you remember our airship, Ben Bolt. Our airship, Ben Bolt. We looked with delight when its wings were outspread. And spoke of its graceful design. On the old scrap pile in the alley, Ben Bolt. In a corner obscure and alone. There is lying an airship that I shall never forget the impression, Ben Bolt. That was built upon plans of our own. There is lying the wreck of a monoplane.

Ben, That was built upon plans of our own. And don't you remember the morning Ben Bolt. When we thought we would test our machine? We took it around to the rear of the shed where the grass was untrod and green. You seated yourself at the levers, Ben Bolt. And up like a rocket she went; Oh, I still know the place where you landed, Ben Bolt. It is marked by a deep, ragged rent; I shall never forget the impression, Ben Bolt. That I had when you made that descent. There is change in our worldly ambitions. We once had a longing to soar; But I know your desire for mounting is gone. That you seek the high currents no more, And I am possessed of no yearning, Ben Bolt. To soar as a bird on the wing; I have learned that the earth is a pretty good place. And close to its surface I cling; I have found that if one wants a footing that's safe The earth is a pretty good thing.

CANDID OPINION.

Some people hunt for work in about the same way that an optimist hunts for trouble.

Few men succeed in getting valuable experience by deliberately going out after it.

Most people would be satisfied with the kind of a living they are making if other people were not living better.

The man who told us so is always doubly offensive if he comes around after the arrival of our troubles and tries to look as if he had forgotten all about it.

WHY SHE ASKED.

"Have you ever kissed a girl before?" she asked. "Why do you put that question to me?" he replied.

"I only wished to know whether it was lack of experience or natural awkwardness that made you go about it in such a ridiculous way."

Lucky.

"I consider my wife the loveliest woman in the world." "I congratulate you. A man who considers his wife the loveliest woman in the world has a blessing that is greater than riches. He is luckier than the man who has millions and is bored when he has to be alone with his wife. How long have you been married?" "It will be six weeks next Thursday."

Slow.

"This town is rather backward, isn't it?" "I don't think so. We have a $10,000,000 depot, and our street railway system is undoubtedly one of the best in the world." "But you don't seem to have either a 'White City' or a 'Luna Park.'"

The Gardener.

There was a man in our town, And he was wondrous wise; He made a garden which was great—At least it was for size.

And when he'd got his planting done His muscles hurt him so That he had not the heart to dig The weeds which wished to grow.

How the Rumor Started.

"They say Bexley has married a woman with a past." "No. She merely lived in a boarding-house where the other women had nothing to do but gossip."

At Last.

When a man confidently tells his wife that he considers the pretty woman across the way a fright it may be admitted that he has arrived at years of discretion.

A Leader.

"I'm afraid Artie will never excel at anything, don't you know?" "Nonsense, old man. He's the best cigarette roller in our set."

CANDID OPINION.

Why is it that every man who achieves success would have been hopelessly wrecked if his triumph had not come just when it did?

Every chronic office-holder claims that he could make more money if he had the heart to quit serving the public and go into business for himself.

A rich man who goes around whining ought to be kicked.

Many a shining light has become prominent through shady practices.

A man who has had to hire other people is not likely to burden himself with unwarranted suspicions that his boss is trying to wrong him.

Not Much.

"So you are one of those who want to be let alone?"

"Yes, sir. What we want is a little sunshine and not so much tinkering with other people's business."

"What line are you in?"

"I am the owner of a number of buildings that my agents are renting to people who keep screens in front of the windows. It may be that they are not strictly moral—some of 'em—but it's not my business to go around looking through chinks for the purpose of trying to discover things I mightn't happen to like."

Another Optimist.

"Heard about Dodsley? While he was at a ball game the other day lightning struck and burned his house."

"Yes, he was telling me about it."

"I suppose he was all broken up over it, eh?"

"No, on the contrary, he was elated. It seems that the storm broke when the visiting team had four runs scored in the sixth inning, with nobody out. When it became necessary to call the game the score went back to the end of the fifth inning, which left the home team one run to the good."

HIS POETRY.

"I don't see how you can write poetry here in all this noise and turmoil of the city," said the sweet young thing.

"The magazine publishers seem to have unanimously agreed that I can't," replied the young man, who was getting his rhymes put up in the street cars.

Trying an Experiment.

"My great-grandfather fought in the war of the Revolution; my great-grandfather fought in the first Mexican war; my grandfather fought in the Civil war, and my father fought in the war with Spain."

"I suppose you intend to fight against Mexico?"

"No, I'm going to stay at home and see if it won't change our luck. All my ancestors had to work for their living after the wars were over."

Cruel Man.

"My dear," he said, "We've got to call a halt. We can't go on forever living beyond our income."

"There," she replied, "I knew you'd go and bring up some disagreeable subject to spoil the day. This is the first morning for a week that I haven't had a headache."

A FARM BUREAU

WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY ONE IN THIS COUNTY.

ABOUT JOHNSON COUNTY

Clubs Are Formed There in Hundred School Districts to Teach Progressive Methods.

As Nodaway county is in need of a farm bureau, headed by a man well experienced along agricultural lines, the article written by H. J. Blanton for the St. Louis Republic of the work as done by the farm bureau in Johnson county, of which Warrensburg is the county seat, will be of interest here. Several attempts have been made for a bureau here, and it is probable that such a one will be established within the near future. As the article is a lengthy one, only parts of it are given as follows:

The year's farm bureau results in Johnson county were: Soybean clubs, junior poultry clubs, hog management clubs, egg marketing clubs, boys' seed corn clubs, girls' tomato growing clubs, cooking and sewing clubs, thirty-five rural fairs, one hundred school district clubs, ten township farm organizations, alfalfa on fifty farms, seed testing in the schools, cooking contests in rural schools, seven hundred in farm organization and twenty-one anti-hog cholera clubs.

Johnson county is just beginning its second year under the farm bureau organization. Conditions have taken the place of theories and intelligent efforts are fast supplanting the unprofitable and unbusiness-like methods incident to planning and plowing, planting and cultivation, harvesting, marketing and feeding in former years.

The bureau is headed by a young man from the agricultural college of the University of Missouri. His name is C. M. Long. Except for the fact that all his studies and all his ambitions have been along the agricultural lines, he would have gained name and fame as a campaign manager in some political party.

Within twelve months from the time he opened his little office in Warrensburg there were farmers' clubs in 100 school districts, anti-hog cholera clubs with more than 1,200 members; fair associations in thirty-five farming communities, hog management clubs, tomato growing clubs, cooking and canning clubs, poultry associations, egg marketing circles, and all sorts of other organizations for the study, production and development of better people and things upon the farms of Johnson county.

Good natured rivalry has become a dominant factor in neighborhood and district, and out of this rivalry before the frosts are felt again will come object lessons in the utility of intelligent application that will be as profitable as they are convincing.

The bureau has seven hundred farmers upon its active list. It has a board of directors composed of two men from each of the fifteen townships. In 100 school districts there are suborganizations which articulate with the county bureau. Meetings are held at the county seat once a month. Reports on things actually accomplished are made and plans for the next four weeks are formulated.

The bureau has the active co-operation of the County Grange, the County Poultry association, the County Dairy association and the commercial clubs of Warrensburg, Holden and Chilhowee, while in every one of the 150 district schools the dignity and possibilities of scientific agriculture are emphasized day after day.

The first year was a year of organization. The second year, just beginning, is to be a year of application. The new crops and better methods advocated in 1913 are being put to a practical test in 1914, and Manager Long awaits results with full assurance that anything like a favorable season will more than vindicate his claims in their behalf.

The farm bureau has stimulated interest in better crops, better stock and better products of pantry, needle and brush by the organization of fair associations in which the premiums cover a wide range, and competition is plentiful and keen. Thirty-five of these associations were organized last fall.

The attendance was large at every fair, and the exhibits include everything, from bottled ketchup to bouncing babes. The winners resolved to do even better next year, while the losers resolved to beat the winners at their own game by resorting to winning methods. Incidentally, the social side of life was further developed by these fairs, and in exchange of ideas there was an educational feature of much value.

The savings to Johnson county incident to the farm bureau's campaign against hog cholera were sufficient to maintain it for a generation. The bureau built sentiment for the effort and the veterinary department of the state university did the rest. Twelve hundred farm owners became members of the twenty-one anti-hog cholera clubs that were organized.

Manager Long is conducting a campaign of education on the virtues of sweet clover. The plant is a mysterious stranger in Missouri, and until recent months has been considered a dangerous pest. As a forage plant and soil-improving plant, however, it ranks next to alfalfa in value. It has the advantage of alfalfa, in that it will thrive in the poorest soil and flourish through the driest season. This seed is worth $15 a bushel. One man secured 1,200 pounds along a roadside near Warrensburg in a very short time and sold it, hulls and all, at 15 cents a pound. Two hundred acres were sowed to this crop this spring.

ENTERTAINED THE BALL TEAM.

Being the Closing of the Season and Their Victory Over Warrensburg.

The Normal school base ball team was entertained last night in honor of the closing of the season and of the victory over Warrensburg.

Coach L. M. Eck was host to the team for the first part of the evening when the athletes went to the picture show at the Empire. They were then invited to partake of a dainty luncheon at the Reuillard cafe by Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Miss Beulah Bruner, Miss M. M. Hughes, Miss Katherine Helwig and Miss Beatrix Winn.

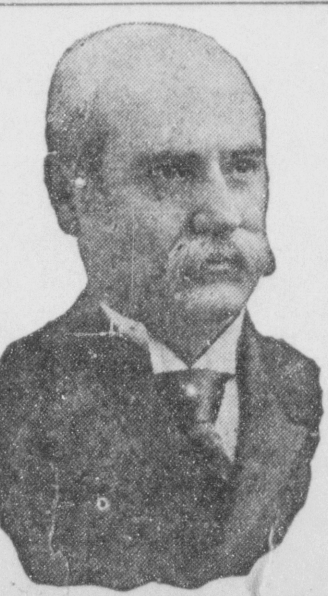

Base ball for next season was, of course, one of the topics discussed, and it was found that practically every member of this year's team would report for duty again next spring.

Those present were Reed Noblett, Ed Adams, Earl Brittain, Frank Hamm, Eugene Bird, Walter Miller, Sam Long, Earl Richards, Marvin Dyer, Madison Wilson and Frank McKee of the team, and the host and hostesses of the evening, L. M. Eck, Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Misses Beulah Bruner, M. M. Hughes, Katherine Helwig and Beatrix Winn.

Miss Ruth Gilmore of Carl Junction expects to attend the summer term of the Normal school and will make her home with Mrs. J. C. Archer.

Richard Goff and son, Ova, and daughter, Maude, of Barnard were visitors in this city Thursday.

On Tuesday evening a number of Clearmont people took their suppers and went to the woods nearby. A delicious menu of salad, deviled eggs, pickles, olives, sandwiches, ice tea, cake and ice cream were served, after which automobiles conveyed the party to the tent show at Burlington Junction. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffey, Mr. and Mrs. June Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Newlon, Mr. and Mrs. Ted King, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newlon, Mr. and Mrs. Will Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffey, Miss Ola Ault, Miss Nora Bosch, Mr. Byron Sowers and Mr. John Wolfe.

City Federation.
The regular meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs was held Wednesday afternoon at the Price-McNeal rest room. Mrs. C. C. Corwin, the new president, presided in a very able manner. Heads of various departments were elected as follows: Mrs. Berney Harris, civic department; Mrs. O. C. Hanna, education department; Miss Orrel Helwig, home economics department; and Mrs. George P. Bellows, club house department. Miss Jessie Parcher was retained as head of the rest room department.

Encouraging reports were heard from each department, particularly the rest room department, whose chairman reported work as progressing nicely. The advisability of making the collection of magazines an annual event was discussed and the idea was favorably received by the members. The endless chain form of entertaining was talked of and in all probability the federation will adopt that method. The session was adjourned to the next regular meeting.

Organized New Club.
Mrs. J. C. F. Taylor entertained a few neighbors at her home, four miles northwest of Maryville, Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in a social manner and in organizing a new club, which was named Herron Homemaking Circle. The new society will meet every two weeks. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Guthrie, president; Mrs. Taylor, vice president; and Grace Fisher, secretary. After the business session the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Misses Mary and Sarah Taylor, served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Those present were Mrs. I. E. Tebow, Mrs. Harve Cockayne, Mrs. Frank Dempsey, Mrs. Virgil Guthrie, Mrs. S. E. Fisher, Mrs. Nellie Manley, Mrs. L. E. Rogers, Misses Mary Taylor, Sarah Taylor, Nellie Fisher, Mary Belle Fisher, Grace Fisher.

FOR CHAUTAUQUA

MRS. LEONORA M. LAKE SECURED FOR THIS YEAR'S SESSION.

MESSAGE TO PUBLIC

An Earnest Desire to Attract Attention to the Most Sacred Obligations of Life.

The Chautauqua association has secured a most able lecturer for this session in the person of Mrs. Leonora M. Lake. Mrs. Lake is one of the most ardent lecturers on the Chautauqua platform today.

Leonora M. Lake's "Message to the Public" is as follows:
My Judge and Jury: What is my message? An earnest desire to attract attention to the most sacred obligations of life, loving service of God, home and country; to awaken conscience, arouse ambition, strengthen purpose for the fulfilling of life's noblest duties; to help the weak and faltering; to encourage the strong and persevering; to open up grander possibilities before the minds of those standing undecided on life's threshold; to try and make everyone glad that they live in this, the most beautiful of all the ages, in the most beautiful of all lands; to help all, to hurt none, except that one of whom it might be said, "Tis only the wounded bird which flutters."

If in my message there be aught of helplessness to young or old; if I shall dry one tear of sorrow, soothe one aching, doubting, despairing heart—help one struggling soul to a clearer vision of the creature's duty to the Creator, and therefore a kinder relation with all mankind; if my message shall help some young man or woman to hold fast to the higher, nobler, purer ideals of life, then indeed will I have done some good in my "ministry of a smile" and a cheery word.

I am an enthusiastic Chautauquan and I believe their platform afford greater opportunities for education, inspiration, spiritual life, recreation and an appeal to the moral sensitiveness and unselfish impulse of human souls than any other known method of reaching and benefitting all classes of people.

And so believing, I bring to it all the zest, vigor and conscientious effort of which I am capable. I love the work with all the ardor of a girl in her teens. Although a wife, mother, and grandmother, I am not yet ready to be labeled antique. I am a member of the I. L. A. (International Lyceum association), not that I am of any benefit to that organization, but because it is of great benefit to me. Contact with its brilliant minded, noble hearted, conscientious men and women makes me better fitted to serve you acceptably. May I hope, your honors, judge and jury, to receive a favorable verdict when I appear before you.

I am Irish by birth and parentage. Became an American when less than 3 years old. I was reared in the country, on a farm, and was called a pretty good farmer, too.

In those days there were little or no church or school advantages. But I had, thank God, that which supplied so far as possible the need of both—a wise, prudent, intelligent, devout Catholic mother, to whose teachings and character building I owe all that is good in me, and to whom I am indebted for the ideal mother, home, home life for which I so earnestly plead today.

Mrs. Lake has lectured on the Maryville Chautauqua platform and a great many expressed their desire to be able to hear her again, and for this reason the management of the association has secured Mrs. Lake to be present and deliver one of her lectures at this session.

DUNCAN FOR COUNTY CLERK.

Files His Candidacy Today—Sam H. Williams for Presiding Judge.

Prof. B. F. Duncan of this city filed his candidacy today for the office of county clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election to be held August 4. An investigation of political conditions of the county has convinced the friends of Prof. Duncan that the indications are favorable to his candidacy, and Mr. Duncan decided to enter the race. That there is a large number of voters in the county ready to follow the leadership of Prof. Duncan goes without saying, and though he has sustained defeat in some instances in his efforts heretofore, the conditions were so entirely exceptional, the vote cast for him so large and the margin against him so small as to fully justify his entering this campaign, his friends say. No one acquainted with his qualifications doubts his ability to discharge the duties of this office with credit to himself and the good of the public service. His long residence among our people and his active participation in important public enterprises, entitle him, his friends assert, to high consideration and respect. His friends will be content with urging his own personal claims and qualifications, leaving intact the merits of the gentlemen who oppose him in this race.

Sam H. Williams of near Burlington Junction, formerly county treasurer, filed today as a candidate for presiding judge of the county court, subject to the action of the Democratic primary on August 4.

SOFT WOOD BAT

WARRENSBURG TRIED TO USE IT IN GAME YESTERDAY.

ONE HOME RUN WITH IT

And Bat Was Thrown Out—Normal Team Wins by a Score of 5 to 1, Closing Their Season.

The Maryville Normal school base ball team finished their season in great style Wednesday when they defeated the Warrensburg Normal team by a 5 to 1 score.

The victory was doubly sweet because of the fact that the Normal team was defeated by the Warrensburg team at Warrensburg a few weeks ago largely because of a raw deal in umpiring in conjunction with a "fudge" or soft wood bat with which that team got most of their long drives.

The same bat was in evidence yesterday, and their lone score was made when one of their players put the ball to the railroad tracks with this club, which was good for a home run. Umpire Keck, however, insisted that such a bat was not in accordance with the rules of organized base ball, and despite Coach Allen's protests, suggested that they use regulation bats for the remainder of the game.

A large crowd witnessed the game, and displayed such enthusiasm as has not been witnessed on the home diamond for many a moon. The Normal field was practically airtight, with the exception of one error on the part of Shortstop Bird. Bird's work in the field, however, was of such a character that he could have made several more errors and yet been ahead of the game, for he accepted every chance that came his way, and with the one exception handled them perfectly. Pitcher Ham also deserves special mention for pitching the heady game which he did, and for his stops of several line drives which looked like scores. Every man on the team played gilt edged ball, and all certainly deserve all the glory which is coming to them from this victory.

Three of the Normal's five scores were earned runs. The locals registered in the first inning when Noblett got to first on an infield hit and stole second base. The Warrensburg catcher, in attempting to intercept him, overthrew second, and the center fielder, in trying to cut him off at third, overthrew that base and allowed the score to come home. Warrensburg then tied the score in the second inning with their home run.

The score stood a tie then until the eighth inning, when the Normal team put on their slugging clothes and drove in four runs. In this inning Long, McKee and Adams all got safe hits, Adams' being a two-base hit. Warrensburg was shut out in the ninth.

This game finishes the Normal season, with a total of eight games won, and four lost. Summary:

Maryville 100000004*—5 5 2
Warrensburg . . . 010000000—1 4 4
Umpire—Keck.

INVITED TO CLARINDA.

Business Men of That Town Extend Invitation to the Commercial Club Here.

Clarinda has extended an invitation to the Commercial club of Maryville to come to that town on Friday for a visit, as the play "A Night in Bohemia," by Maryville talent, is to be presented to the theater goers of Clarinda that evening. The invitation was extended through the Clarinda Commercial club, and they stated that they wished to have a "get acquainted" meeting and to establish more friendly relations between the two towns. Clarinda is about forty miles distant and a large number of people are anticipating on making the trip, returning the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vorhes and daughter, Miss Margaret Vorhes, of Athens, O., came Wednesday to visit Mrs. Vorhes' brother, D. S. Angell, and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Miller.

Terrible Predicament.
"My husband has threatened to sue me for divorce," sobbed the beautiful actress.
"Cheer up," said her manager.
"Nearly every actress has been sued for divorce."
"I know, but think what the public will say. I have always tried to be all that a wife should be. Now nobody will believe it."
"If you're innocent, why don't you fight the case?"
"That's the trouble. I'm afraid if I fought the case they wouldn't give him the divorce."

PICKED THEM UP.

"And what," asked the Sunday school teacher, "is your name?"
"Arthur Henry Brown Williams Green Joyce Brown Corwin."
"Gracious! How did your parents ever happen to give you all those names?"
"They didn't give me all of them. My step-parents helped."

Willing to Extend Sympathy.
"Yes," he said, after explaining to his wife that the lodge meeting had been a very important and a somewhat protracted one, thus making it impossible for him to get home a minute earlier than he did, "and there were two fellows there who made the worst fools of themselves you could imagine. You couldn't find two worse chumps in a row of counties clear across this state."

"I suppose not," she replied. "Who was the other one? I'd like to sympathize with his wife."

The Cruel World.
Before, in flowery pastures spread,
He hears a glad brook flow along,
And from a branch above his head
There falls a sweet June shower of song.
There is mild fragrance in the breeze
That blows from orchards far away,
The musing cows beneath the trees
Are being peaceful while they may.

His limbs are straight and young and strong,
He gazes forth from undimmed eyes,
But, thinking that the world's gone wrong,
He seeks a far-off cloud and sighs.

Strange Neglect.
"There's one thing, though," said the stranger, "that I can't understand."
"What's that?" asked the old settler.
"Nobody around here has assured me that this is the garden spot of the state."

Couldn't Lose the Chance.
"My husband always remembers my birthday and our wedding anniversary."
"I should think you would positively hate him," replied the other woman.

RELIGIOUS CITIZENSHIP LEAGUE.

For Social Progress Through Political Action—National, Non-Partisan, and Non-Sectarian.

The following manifesto sets forth its character and object:

Object:
To interest, educate and unite men and women, especially the members of churches, synagogues and other religious or ethical bodies, in securing the enactment and enforcement of legislative measures for the industrial and social welfare of all the people.

Basic consideration:

1. A large share of our modern social problems cannot be worked out on a personal, parochial, denominational or other sectarian basis. We are being forced to realize that we are all one.

2. The forces which make for righteousness in the community are more in number and far mightier in power than the forces for evil. Only the forces for righteousness must act, and must act together.

3. If we have had laws, poor enforcement, corrupt legislation, it is largely by the consent of the forces for good through indifference, apathy, or lack of unity.

4. This united effort must be applied to concrete legislative measures. Legislation can by no means do all; yet legislation is the chief way by which the will of the whole community can be expressed. The churches of the land, through their federal council and other bodies, have united upon many important principles; but principles unapplied solve no problems. The question is, can the various forces now unite for measures? To develop such concerted action is the aim of the Religious Citizenship League.

Membership:
Open to men and women in sympathy with the object of the league.

We desire and expect to form branches of the league in every state, county, city and town in the United States. Is there a better work for social education and practical unity? It is a matter of great significance that the measure adopted for the first year confessedly put into the form of legislative action those industrial principles which the general council of churches in the United States have already formally adopted. We want every one who thinks with us to work with us. As Dr. Rauschenbusch says: "If the religious forces get together nothing can stand in the way." Will the forces unite, or shall we stand for loose, general talk and be divided in action? What is your answer?

Article 4 of the constitution says: "The annual dues shall be one dollar, payable to the treasurer of the league, for which the council of the league shall send to each member such literature as it may deem best for the education of the members, as to the measures adopted by the league, or for the spread of the work."

Article 5 says: "The officers of the league shall be: A president, such vice presidents as the council may from time to time elect, a general secretary, a recording and financial secretary, a treasurer, a national council, consisting of the officers and 200 members, and a committee of one hundred, consisting of 100 members, resident in or near the city where are the headquarters of the league."

Christians have been daily praying for our Heavenly Father's kingdom to come and His will to be done on earth as it is done in heaven ever since our first parents were expelled from Eden. But our world is far from being blessed with the answer to our prayer.

The Bible recognizes the devil to be "the prince of this world, and of the power of the air, and to be the spirit that now worketh in sons of disobedience, according to the course of this world" (Eph. 2:1-2). But Jesus said, "Now is the judgment of this world. Now shall the prince of this world be cast out." "To this end was the Son of Man manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil" (1 John, 3:8), and establish our Heavenly Father's kingdom on earth as it is in heaven.

In the apostolic age the people had no voice in legislation and government. They were disfranchised. Monarchs and their satraps governed the world. The people were not responsible for bad laws and government. It was not their duty nor interest to learn politics and discuss its problems.

But in our Christian republic the people are sovereign. Each citizen has an equal responsibility and duty to the government. Every elector is as responsible in his sphere as the president or any of the government officers for the character of our government. Every suffragist's ballot, however ignorant or vicious he may be, has all the potency in shaping government that the wisest and the best voter's ballot can have.

We then can be under no greater obligation to our country and to our country's God than to learn political ethics and to vote for righteous laws and government to the best of our ability. There can be no greater sin than to neglect or to refuse to do it.

God cannot cast the devil out of our world without our collective consent as peoples and nations any more than He can cast him out of us individually against our wills. We are surely under the same obligation to and necessity to work out our social or political salvation that we are to work out our individual salvation with fear and trembling, for it is as impossible for God to save us nationally as individually without our co-operation with Him.

If the church does not control the moral principles involved in the political problems of our country, politicians and their partisan followers will determine the standard of the churches' social and political ethics to suit their selfish or sinister purposes without regard to all the people's welfare or the will of God.

This league is for the exclusive purpose of educating the electorate of our county on measures or principles most needed for the highest good of all the people and crystallizing them into law without regard to any party or sect.

The movement originated in a federation of church members in all the churches and religious bodies and outside moralists who believe in righteous government. The personnel of its officers and present adherents and the good it has already done, although not a year old, assures us that it is one of the best political organizations that ever blessed our country.

Dr. Rauschenbusch, the president, is professor of church history in Rochester Baptist Theological seminary and one of the greatest sociological writers in the world. Bishops McDowell and Hendrix are at the head of the M. E. and M. E. South churches. Dr. Washington Gladden and D. W. D. P. Bliss are preachers of national fame in the Congregationalist and Episcopalian churches. The other officers are of equal celebrity in the different churches.

Let us all fall in line and "God speed" the movement for the enthronement of the Messiah King on earth as He is King in heaven.

LOCAL DRUGGIST MAKES MANY FRIENDS

The Koch Pharmacy reports they are making many friends through the QUICK benefit which Maryville people receive from the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-I-ka. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and it is the most thorough bowel cleanser known, acting on BOTH the lower and upper bowel. JUST ONE DOSE of Adler-I-ka relieves constipation and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY.

Pa has had a Rest and Change

Pa's got back from his vacation. With a look that's wild and strange. Seems all full of tribulation. Though he's had his rest and change. For a year he had been wishin' He could be alone somewhere. So he spent his two weeks fishin'. Far away from home and care.

He has forty-seven places Where the hungry woodchucks died. And the color of his face is Like a piece of beef that's dried.

Both his feet are full of blisters. Insects nearly ate him up. And last night he called my sister's Beau a pompous little pup.

Pa's got back from his vacation. Lookin' like a hungry tramp. Once he nearly faced starvation When he strayed away from camp. He must eat things prodigious Till his health improves a lot; Comin' home he was arrested For the only fish he got.

Memorial Day Flowers.

The beautiful custom of honoring those who laid down their lives in sacrifice to the principles for which they fought, and showing a tribute to our loved ones who have died, by covering their graves with flowers at least once a year, is one of the most inspiring and poetic breaks in the busy life of our country, and it is to our credit that Memorial Day is observed with increasing interest each year. You will want flowers for Memorial Day—indeed their universal use causes us to make special preparations and you will find here a most complete assortment of appropriate flowers and plants and beautiful wreaths, baskets and other combinations at all prices. All orders whether placed in person or by mail or telephone will have the same careful attention and prompt delivery.

BEN BOLT, the AVIATOR

Oh, don't you remember our airship, Ben Bolt. Our airship so trim and so fine. We looked with delight when its wings were outspread. And spoke of its graceful design. On the old scrap pile in the alley, Ben Bolt. In a corner obscure and alone. There is lying an airship that I gladdened us once. That was built upon plans of our own. There is lying the wreck of a monoplane.

Ben. That was built upon plans of our own. And don't you remember the morning Ben Bolt. When we thought we would test our machine? We took it around to the rear of the shed where the grass was untrodden and green. You seated yourself at the levers, Ben Bolt. And up like a rocket she went. Oh, I still know the place where you landed, Ben Bolt. It is marked by a deep, ragged rent. I shall never forget the impress, Ben Bolt. That I had when you made that deep dent. There is change in our worldly ambitions. Ben Bolt. We once had a longing to soar. But I know your desire for mounting is gone. That you seek the high currents no more. And I am possessed of no yearning, Ben Bolt. To soar as a bird on the wing. I have learned that the earth is a pretty good place. And close to its surface I cling. I have found that if one wants a footing that's safe. The earth is a pretty good thing.

CANDID OPINION.

Some people hunt for work in about the same way that an optimist hunts for trouble.

Few men succeed in getting valuable experience by deliberately going out after it.

Most people would be satisfied with the kind of a living they are making if other people were not living better.

The man who told us so is always doubly offensive if he comes around after the arrival of our troubles and tries to look as if he had forgotten all about it.

WHY SHE ASKED.

"Have you ever kissed a girl before?" she asked. "Why do you put that question to me?" he replied. "I only wished to know whether it was lack of experience or natural awkwardness that made you go about it in such a ridiculous way."

Lucky.

"I consider my wife the loveliest woman in the world." "I congratulate you. A man who considers his wife the loveliest woman in the world has a blessing that is greater than riches. He is luckier than the man who has millions and is bored when he has to be alone with his wife. How long have you been married?" "It will be six weeks next Thursday."

Slow.

"This town is rather backward, isn't it?" "I don't think so. We have a $10,000,000 depot, and our street railway system is undoubtedly one of the best in the world." "But you don't seem to have either a 'White City' or a 'Luna Park.'"

The Gardener.

There was a man in our town, And he was wondrous wise. He made a garden which was great—At least it was for size.

And when he'd got his planting done His muscles hurt him so. That he had not the heart to dig. The weeds which wished to grow.

How the Rumor Started.

"They say Bexley has married a woman with a past." "No. She merely lived in a boarding-house where the other women had nothing to do but gossip."

At Last.

When a man confidently tells his wife that he considers the pretty woman across the way a fright it may be admitted that he has arrived at years of discretion.

A Leader.

"I'm afraid Artie will never excel at anything, don't you know?" "Nonsense, old man. He's the best cigarette roller in our set."

CANDID OPINION.

Why is it that every man who achieves success would have been hopelessly wrecked if his triumph had not come just when it did?

Every chronic office-holder claims that he could make more money if he had the heart to quit serving the public and go into business for himself.

A rich man who goes around whining ought to be kicked.

Many a shining light has become prominent through shady practices.

A man who has had to hire other people is not likely to burden himself with unwarranted suspicions that his boss is trying to wrong him.

Not Much.

"So you are one of those who want to be let alone?"

"Yes, sir. What we want is a little sunshine and not so much tinkering with other people's business."

"What line are you in?"

"I am the owner of a number of buildings that my agents are renting to people who keep screens in front of the windows. It may be that they are not strictly moral—some of 'em—but it's not my business to go around looking through chinks for the purpose of trying to discover things I mightn't happen to like."

Another Optimist.

"Heard about Dodsley? While he was at a ball game the other day lightning struck and burned his house."

"Yes, he was telling me about it."

"I suppose he was all broken up over it, eh?"

"No, on the contrary, he was elated. It seems that the storm broke when the visiting team had four runs scored in the sixth inning, with nobody out. When it became necessary to call the game the score went back to the end of the fifth inning, which left the home team one run to the good."

HIS POETRY.

"I don't see how you can write poetry here in all this noise and turmoil of the city," said the sweet young thing.

"The magazine publishers seem to have unanimously agreed that I can't," replied the young man, who was getting his rhymes put up in the street cars.

Trying an Experiment.

"My great-grandfather fought in the war of the Revolution; my great-grandfather fought in the first Mexican war; my grandfather fought in the Civil war, and my father fought in the war with Spain."

"I suppose you intend to fight against Mexico?"

"No, I'm going to stay at home and see if it won't change our luck. All my ancestors had to work for their living after the wars were over."

Cruel Man.

"My dear," he said, "We've got to call a halt. We can't go on forever living beyond our income."

"There," she replied, "I knew you'd go and bring up some disagreeable subject to spoil the day. This is the first morning for a week that I haven't had a headache."
